

What is I'm a Scientist?

Watch online: I'm a Scientist - An Introduction in 60 seconds on Vimeo

What is I'm a Scientist?

Students get a 1-to-1 personalised experience by asking the questions that are important to them.

See the activity:

<https://imascientist.org.uk/>

? Recent Questions

Why did you pick to work in such a cold climate?

Lily C

what made you go into this work

suns436sea

does the universe have an end

mackenzief

does your job involve traveling

wych436sea

what's the oldest historic record you have seen (1 Comment)

Breydonr

who is the oldest known person e.g caveman?

Noah

do you work alone or part of a team

ward436sea

have you always been in the same field?

make436sea

does your job involve traveling?

wych436sea

Benefits of taking part

Students more likely to consider Higher Education

Students learn about career paths they might not have known existed

Increased confidence shown by students

Higher engagement during class

Read more about the benefits: <https://imascientist.org.uk/teacher-benefits/>

Resources

I'm a Scientist provides resources to make taking part more straightforward for busy teachers, like:

- Engaging pre-made lesson plans
- Prompt sheets so you can book on another teacher's behalf
- You can check your students' progress and track what they've been asking from your teacher dashboard

What is I'm a Scientist?

I'm a Scientist meets 6 of the Gatsby Good Careers Guidance Benchmarks.

The activity is fully funded for state maintained schools by our funders.

Other activities include:

I'm an Engineer
Get me OUT of here

I'm a
Mathematician
Get me OUT of here

I'm in
Space
Get me OUT of here

I'm a
Medic
Get me OUT of here

I'm
History
Get me OUT of here

Useful links

I'm a Scientist, Get me out of here:

<https://imascientist.org.uk/>

For support, please contact

support@imascientist.org.uk

"Taking part has been a real eye-opener for some of my kids and made them think differently about relevant their studies really are."

Teacher